LEXINGTON SPOKE

The FOUR-WAY TEST of the things we think, say or do.

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOOD WILL and BETTER FELLOWSHIP?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

John Kenny, President
Rotary International

March 29, 2010

On a rainy, cool Spring Day 22 . . . no wait 24, . . . oops 2 more, 26 Rotarians, and one guest enjoyed lunch and conversation.

PP Don M. led the Pledge; the first verse of America was by Charlie V., and the invocation by PP Don S.

Raffle donations were by Arlex Oil and Walpole Cooperative Bank.

Acting Secretary Dan B. introduced his guest, Jeff C. from Geek Office.

Welcome song was started by Charlie V.

Pres Doug H. reminded club members about the make-up cards and asked members to try to make-up meetings as much as possible.

PP John O. proposed a fine on Connie N. for mocking him at the last meeting. PP Dave E. paid the fine for Connie N. although there was never a vote, sounds more and more like Congress.

PP John O. finally got around to business and reminded members to buy a table for Comedy Night.

PP Dave E. discussed Patriot's Day and the initial schedule. The final schedule will come out next week.

PP Dan B. paid some happy dollars for some golf. PP Spencer B. paid happy dollars for having another baby on the way. SAA Julianne D. paid happy dollars for her team, Michigan State, being in the Final Four, and Pres. Doug H. added some dollars since he grew up near Butler.

VP David B. introduced our speaker, Professor Nicolas Rofougaran. He has his PH. D. from Harvard in Philosophy. He is Co-founder, President of PaxPaths. A local non profit that is working around conflict resolution. He spoke about the project his non profit is working on. The mission statement of the non profit is:

PaxPaths is an educational consulting organization whose objective is to empower children, teachers, and parents with peacemaking strategies and equip them with relationship management skills, collaborative problem solving techniques, and cross-cultural communication and negotiation skills. The combination of these essential human skills make up what we call "The Global Arts."

We believe that educating our children and ourselves in the Global Arts is the most effective way to serve the cause of peace in a sustainable world. It is also a proven way to improve significantly our children's quality of life and their chance to seize the great opportunities of our global world. We define the Global Arts as the set of emotional and social skills that have been recognized by world-class educators and expert-scientists as crucial for successful studies and careers in particular, and for a balanced and healthy life in general. At PaxPaths, we have synthesized the results of leading-edge research on emotional and social intelligence conducted in the fields of education, psychology, cultural studies, and negotiation at the best institutions of higher learning such as Harvard University, MIT, and Stanford University. Then, we have created and tested innovative teaching methods in order to adapt the synthesis of the above-mentioned research to children's and young adults' needs, concerns, and learning styles. Indeed, advanced social and emotional skills are generally lacking among our youth. On the other hand, children and young adults who are equipped with these skills perform better at school and develop happier and steadier relationships with their peers and with adults. For this reason, and because children and young adults who are skilled at establishing effective dialogue with others are the best promise of a better future and a more peaceful world, we have set our mission to introduce Global Arts into our schools. 50/50 winner was Jim Shaw.

Next meeting Monday April 5, 2010

Respectfully submitted PP Jim F.
